HEART CHECK and Prayer

One failure does not erase a lifetime of devotion.

HEART CHECK

- Am I allowing a recent failure to define my identity or my story?
- Do I remember to look at the whole picture of what God has done in my life?
- Am I truly devoted to the Lord in my everyday choices, or only in certain areas?
- Do I stay humble, teachable, and quick to repent when I go the wrong way?
- Am I more focused on my reputation with people or my faithfulness to God?
- What kind of legacy do I want to leave—one of seeking, obeying, and loving the Lord?

PRAYER

Lord,

Thank You that one failure does not define me. You see the whole story—my heart, my motives, and my devotion to You. Help me to stay humble and teachable, to quickly repent when I go the wrong way, and to return to You with a sincere heart.

Let my life be marked by a genuine pursuit of You, not just by what others see, but by a faithfulness that honors You. Give me grace to finish well and to leave a legacy of seeking, obeying, and loving You all my days.

Amen.
